RONDOUT CREEK BRIDGE OPENS

Unofficially But Actually Bridge Opens For Travel

"Officially" Opened Several Months Ago, Only to be Closed Again in an Hour, it Will Be in Use With Customary "Proceed At Your Own Risk" Signs Posted At Six O'clock Tonight.

The Rondout Creek Bridge and the new state highway extending from the Esopus end of it to the state highway at Port Ewen will be thrown open to the public at 6 o'clock this afternoon by Contractor Simon B. Van Wageningen of Slighsburg who has been building the connecting highway.

Fondlest Dreams Realized.
With the exception of cleaning out the ditches alongside the new highway, making shoulders for the new road and doing other odds and ends of similar character, the connecting link in the biggest and most important highway work that has ever been undertaken by the state of New York has been completed, and as The Freeman went to press this afternoon it was being used by an appreciative and grateful public which has been waiting many years to see the realization of their fondest dreams.

Warning Signs Necessary.
Just before removing the barriers which have been in place ever since construction work was begun, Contractor Van Wageningen has erected signs admonishing the public that they are using the highway at their own risk, but until the odds and ends incident to construction are completed the highway cannot be accepted by the state highway commission and therefore the signs are necessary in order that the contractor may preserve his legal rights.

A red flag has been placed where work is being done, and these flags will be maintained until the clearing-up work is completed.

Bridge Free For Travel.
As a matter of fact, no risks are being run by the public in using either the new Rondout Creek Bridge or the new highway, and for the first time in history it is possible to cross the creek by automobile, with horse and wagon, or on foot, without paying money to anybody.

The bridge and highway are owned by the state of New York and the public are free to use them both without paying anybody a cent.

Opening Disproves Slanders.
The opening of the new Rondout Creek Bridge and the connecting highway to public travel belies the slanders which have been circulated, either thoughtlessly or maliciously, that work was to drag along until midsummer, or at least until after Memorial Day and the Fourth of July. The perversion of intentional delay on the part of Contractor Van Wageningen were met as soon as they were started with the statement that the road connecting the bridge with the Port Ewen highway would be completed as rapidly as possible, and as soon as possible would be thrown open to the public for whose benefit both bridge and highway have been built.

Every Promise Fulfilled.
From what was said by Mr. Van Wageningen, who promised that the new bridge and highway would be in readiness for public use before Memorial Day, many people undoubtedly thought that they could not be ready for the public until that day, but those who knew Mr. Van Wageningen and the work he was doing against heavy odds were fully aware that travel would be passing over the Rondout creek by way of the bridge long before that time.

Weather Man Helped.
The weather conditions decided the time when the public could begin to use the new bridge and highway. Rock excavation was completed some time ago and road construction has proceeded rapidly since that time. Every person who has even the slightest knowledge of road building knows, however, that the topdressing and asphalt binder used on the highway could not be applied until the weather had removed the last particle of moisture from the rock. Asphaltum will not stick to a moist surface. The comparative dryness of the past few weeks has allowed the finishing work to proceed rapidly, and the weather of the past few days has been warm enough to justify the state highway authorities to instruct the contractor to proceed with the application of asphaltum to the surface of the road.

Link Up Highway System.
Neither the Storm King highway, which has not yet been completed, nor any other highway or bridge ever undertaken by the state of New York has aroused as much public interest as the Rondout Creek Bridge and its highway approach, which has formed the last essential link in the great scenic highway along the west side of the Hudson river. The demand for a bridge across the Rondout creek to connect the town of Esopus with the Rondout section of the city of Kingston is so great that it is hard to believe that it was not built long ago.

Credit for Everybody.
There is credit enough and to spare for everyone who has helped to bring about the completion of the bridge and highway and did not endeavor to prevent or delay the public in their efforts to cross the creek in some other way than by the use of an antiquated chain ferry or the like. The ferry owned by the Chambliss family many years ago but placed in position which required the public to patronize it. Now that the Rondout creek bridge and highway are open and being used by the public the ferry probably will continue to serve the public to the extent for which it was intended.

History Unnecessary Now.
The history of the steps by which the public travel over the Rondout creek was made public has been published by The Freeman from time to time, and was reviewed both at the time that arrangements for the bridge opening celebration were announced by The Freeman and also at the time of the formal opening by Governor Miller on November 29.

Let Us Forget.
The reason for holding the formal opening of the bridge on November 29 may have escaped the minds of some readers. When the Chamber of Commerce last summer took up the matter of the bridge, the bridge and road contractors expressed the opinion that work would be completed by Thanksgiving Day, and the date of the celebration was fixed by Governor Miller as being the one most convenient to him, and practically the only date on which he could come here.

RIDGLEY MANOR WAS ENTERED

But Intruder Was Satisfied To Eat Eggs and Leave the Shells—Sheriff's Midnight Call.

Monday night about 11 o'clock, daylight saving time, a telephone call came to the court house requesting that officers come at once to High Falls as the unoccupied Legett mansion, known as Ridgley Manor, at that place, was lighted up and that there were burglars in the house.

Sheriff Kolts, Under Sheriff Haulenbeck, Deputy Sheriffs Joseph and Duddenhausen, who were at the sheriff's office at the time, took a game of pinochle, in a very few minutes were seated in the sheriff's touring car and sped for five miles. Arriving at the home of the caretaker and superintendent of Ridgley Manor, they were told that lights had been seen in the mansion for about three hours, and that a number of men armed with shot guns had kept a close vigil of the various entrances and exits for over two hours, but no one had been seen to come out.

Sheriff Kolts took a stand near a cellarway by which the mansion showed the house had been entered and the others of the search party made a careful search of every part of the interior. All they could find was a number of egg shells which indicated that whoever had entered the mansion had regaled himself to a luncheon of raw eggs. Nothing seemed to have been disturbed in the house. The theory is that after the superintendent of the place, or the head farmer, arrived in his automobile after being notified about a o'clock by telephone that burglars were in the house, the burglars, in the automobile as it stopped near the mansion and hall had been seen by whoever was in the house and he quietly sneaked into the open and made a getaway.

The sheriff and members of the posse returned about 1 a.m. Tuesday, having made a most favorable impression on the various people of the High Falls neighborhood because of the promptness in responding to the S. O. S. burglar call.

Is Trolley Road Back Of Auto Bus Agitation?

Alderman Martin Believes So, But Alderman Macholdt Says Chamber of Commerce is Backing Martin, and Accuses an Uptown Man of Saying "To Hell With Rondout"—Mann Wants the Man Arrested.

Alderman Martin's charge that the local trolley road was the instigator of Alderman Macholdt's resolution limiting the auto bus lines to stopping at but one terminal instead of two as at the present time led to a hot and lively debate at the regular session of the common council Tuesday evening.

There had been considerable oratory throughout the evening but the heavy guns were not wheeled into action until toward the close of the session when Alderman Macholdt of the Ninth ward wanted to know what had become of his bus resolution, which had been referred to the laws and rules committee, and on which no report had been made although it had been referred to the committee over two months ago.

"A Trolley Road Move."
Alderman Martin of the Twelfth ward, chairman of the laws and rules committee, in reply to the question of the alderman from the Ninth, said that the committee was giving the matter careful consideration, and would report when its investigations were completed.

"The trolley road is anxious to have the busses stop at only one terminal," said Alderman Martin, but the public have been educated to the use of two terminals and they should be considered."

The alderman from the Twelfth said that after investigating the matter for some time he had reached the conclusion that there was no demand on the part of the public for regulating the busses and compelling them to stop at one terminal only, but it was the trolley road that was asking for it. He said that when the laws and rules committee got the information it was looking for, it would make a report.

Van Wageningen Sought Information.
Alderman Van Wageningen said that he would like to know how Alderman Martin knew the trolley road was back of the movement. He said he had heard nothing mentioned before to that effect.

An Attorney Told Him.
Alderman Martin said that before Alderman Macholdt, who is employed as conductor on the trolley road, had introduced the resolution calling for but one terminal stop, an attorney had told him that such a resolution was to be introduced, and that it looked very much to him as though the trolley road was back of the scheme.

Why Beichert Opposed.
Alderman Beichert of the Second ward said he knew it understood that the trolley road was not back of him, but his opposition to the two stop terminals was due to the fact that the bus lines were not paying the city's taxes, but that other corporations were and should have some protection.

No Trolley Back Of Him.
Alderman Macholdt came back at Alderman Martin by stating that it was true he had offered the resolution, but that the trolley road was not back of him in the deal.

The busses started in and the city provided terminals and paid for them. Now that the busses are making money, the city is still paying for the terminals," said Alderman Macholdt.

"To Hell With Rondout."
Alderman Macholdt, who was slowly warming up, said that at the last meeting of the laws and rules committee a man who attended the meeting said that he did not know why he was asked to attend until he got there. He charged that an uptown business man had said "to hell

LONGSHOREMEN IN PUTS BUS SPEED AT 30 MILES AN HOUR

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Montreal, Que., May 3.—A battle in which two policemen were wounded and hundreds of shots were fired, raged between 500 striking longshoremen and a heavy force of constabulary on the harbor front early today.

The strikers began the fray by attacking the police. After the police were reinforced by reserves, the strikers broke and fled. Their casualties are not known. The strikers had concentrated at Bonsecours market, whence they rushed upon Canadian Pacific Railway freight sheds Number 7, 8 and 10. A workman who was at work in the sheds was attacked and badly beaten. The two policemen who were wounded were James Munsey and Evariste Robert, both of whom were shot through the body. They are believed to be fatally hurt.

A number of special constables employed by the Canadian Pacific Railway received minor injuries. No arrests were made.

NO COMPACT YET TO EXPLOIT OIL FIELDS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Amsterdam, May 3.—While the Royal Dutch and Shell oil companies have not made a formal compact with the Moscow government for exploitation of the Russian oil fields, arrangements have been completed for the creation of a syndicate for the sale of Russian petroleum according to advices from Genoa today.

The negotiations were conducted on behalf of the Royal Dutch-Shell group by Colonel H. W. Boyle. It is not known whether the Soviet has formally ratified the agreement.

proval of the committee, but as far as buying them was concerned, that was another matter.

Deaths Streets to City.
City Clerk Doremus reported that through the efforts of Alderman Martin and Philip Elting, the Wilbur Land Company had deeded the streets in Kingston Terrace to the city. The council accepted the deeds.

A Zoning Committee.
President Dittus appointed Aldermen Beichert, Mann and Van Wageningen as members of a zoning committee to meet with the Chamber of Commerce to consider the question of zoning.

A communication from the Chamber of Commerce opposing the adoption of the Macholdt resolution for one terminal bus stop only was filed. The Chamber of Commerce stated the plan in use at the present time was satisfactory and met with the approval of the public.

Main Street Extension Sewer.
The board of public works reported the cost of the Main street extension sewer as amounting to $32,745.18, of which amount the property owners are to pay $8,808.88, and the city $23,936.30.

Free Taxes for Dwellings.
At the last meeting of the common council Alderman Martin's resolution that the corporation counsel draft a free tax ordinance was referred to the Corporation Counsel, Walter N. Gill, who at the meeting yesterday night submitted a proposed ordinance limiting tax exemption on all new properties to be erected for dwelling houses only for a period of five years.

Alderman Martin moved its adoption, and said it was adopted at least twenty new houses would be erected in the Twelfth ward.

Alderman Van Wageningen moved it be laid on the table, and such action was taken on vote of the council. Other matters taken up will be found elsewhere in The Freeman.

DITTUS APPOINTED BONUS DEPUTY

New York State Will Make First Payments on $250 Bonus For Disabled Veterans Next Monday.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Albany, May 3.—First payments on the $250 bonus for the state's disabled veterans of the world war will be made next Monday. The average monthly payment for married men will be $45, single men $30.

Adjutant General Kincaid, chairman of the Veterans Relief Commission, said today that all red tape will be eliminated in the bonus payments. Under the Drundage bill, the state authorized the expenditure of $1,000,000 for a bonus for disabled veterans who have been out of work for two weeks.

A deputy has been appointed in each assembly district to pass upon validity of claims and make payments.

Albany May 3 (Special to The Freeman).—Rudolph C. Dittus, Kingston, residing at 594 Broadway, has been named by Adjutant General Kincaid as a deputy to assist him in the distribution of the million dollar state appropriation for the relief of veterans of the World war who are ill and without work. There will be a deputy in every assembly district.

The bridge and highway are owned by the state of New York and the public are free to use them both without paying anybody a cent.

REV. MOORE TO ADDRESS "Y" AUXILIARY MEETING.

The regular monthly meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Auxiliary will be held this month on Wednesday, May 10, instead of Friday, at 2.30 o'clock promptly. The business session which will convene at that hour will be of importance as plans will then be made for the June supper.

Following the business meeting, there will be an open meeting held at 3.30 o'clock, to which the Federation of Women's Clubs, the Parent-Teachers' Association, and all other women of the city whether club women or not are cordially invited.

At that time the Rev. James A. G. Moore, Congregational student pastor of Cornell University, will speak on "Preparation for College Freshmen," a subject which should deeply interest all mothers of college students or possible college students.

The Rev. Mr. Moore is a graduate of Trinity College, 1914; a graduate of Rochester Theological Seminary and a member of the Cornell Y. M. C. A. staff.

NUTRITION MEETINGS THURSDAY AND FRIDAY.

Miss Evelyn Byrd, nutrition specialist of Cornell University, will meet with the Home Bureau of Mt. Marion Thursday afternoon to discuss the fourth lesson in the nutrition course. The topic of the discussion will be "Meal Planning."

On Friday afternoon Miss Byrd will discuss the same subject with the Home Bureau group of Stone Ridge.

Miss Byrd is well known at both these places and needs no introduction. The public is cordially invited to attend.

FIND ANCIENT CABIN SITE

Spot Where One of the First Houses in Jackson, Mich., Was Built.

The spot where the second building erected in Jackson, Mich., stood recently was laid bare when a large department store on West Main street was remodeled.

The city's two first log cabins were built by Horace Blackman in 1829 and 1830. The first of these was located on what is now Trail street, on the west side of Grand river. The building was an airy winter home without doors or windows; the logs were green and frozen, unchinked and unsmoked. It had no chimney and no fireplace.

It was occupied by the builder until the following spring, when a more pretentious structure was erected on the Main street location. For several years this log cabin was known as the Blackman hotel, and was the only tavern in the village. Trail street, where the first cabin stood, was so named because it was an Indian trail.

"BIG JAN DEACON" NOT A MYSTERY

But It Was To Albany Lawyer In 1787 and Later to Attorney General's Office Mail.

Has any resident of Ulster county ever heard of the "Big Jan Deacon," a phantom stream in the Southwestern Catskills? If not a surprise awaits them.

The attorney general of the state of New York is making a careful abstract of the title of the state to the Catskill mountain preserve, an important part of which is Great Lot No. 22 of the old Hardenburgh Patent. The search has involved a long examination of titles and patents in the office of the secretary of state at Albany, and in those of the county clerks of Ulster, Delaware, Schoharie and Sullivan. In endeavoring to fix the boundaries of Great Lot No. 22, the attorney general's searches were balked. In running back to the original source of title they found that its northwestern boundary was the Batavia Kill, and that by a deed executed in 1787 the southwestern boundary was the "Big Jan Deacon."

Days were spent in trying to locate the Big Jan Deacon. Every map of the Hardenburgh and Livingston patents was scanned carefully. All the records in the various offices above referred to were gone over thoroughly. Only in the deed of 1787 was the Big Jan Deacon referred to. As a last resort the chief searcher came to Kingston last week and interviewed Judge Clearwater, as the final authority upon obscure matters involving the Catskill mountains. The chief searcher asked the judge where the Big Jan Deacon was located. The judge said there was no stream of that name, and never had been one.

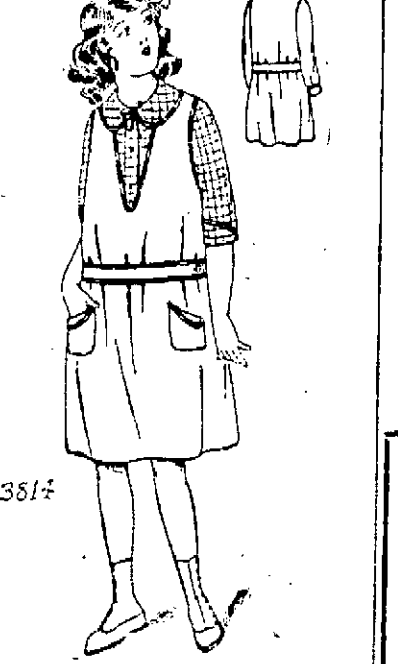

"Well," said the chief searcher, "there is a deed given in 1787 which defines the southwestern boundary of Great Lot No. 22 of the Hardenburgh Patent as being 'the Big Jan Deacon' as it winds and turns through the valley."

The judge asked to see the deed. As he read it the chief searcher was astounded to see him go into convulsions of laughter.

"What," said the chief searcher, "is there amusing about that deed?"

"Well," said the judge, "the Big Jan Deacon is some Albany lawyer's interpretation of the Big Shandaken. This deed was drawn by one of the Albany VerPlancks, a noted lawyer in his day, but entirely unfamiliar with Ulster county names, and when he was told by the representative of the Hardenburgh and Livingston estates that the Big Shandaken was the southwestern boundary of Great Lot No. 22, he wrote it down the 'Big Jan Deacon,' and so it has come down to this day."

Then the judge showed the chief searcher that by tracing the lines on the celebrated Burr map of 1828, a copy of which ornaments the walls of the judge's office, the southwestern boundary of Great Lot No. 22 originally was the Great Shandaken stream. "Well," said the chief searcher, "this will cure a dozen headaches up in our office for we were certain that some error had been committed in the purchase by the state of lands for the forest preserve. This clears the whole matter up."

How to Make Rhubarb Jam

Delicious and Healthful

By Ann Proctor

Rhubarb jam made according to the following recipe is one of the most delicious things you have ever tasted. Children and "grown ups" go wild over it and it is so good for them.

To make eleven 8-ounce glasses of jam:

Cut the rhubarb into short pieces, about 1/2 inch long, and put in a large bowl. Put 4 leveled cups of sugar and 8 leveled cups of water over the rhubarb. Let it stand in a preserving kettle or well and bring to a vigorous boil (boil, constantly, and let boil 15 minutes. Remove from fire and add 1 bottle (scent cup) Certo while stirring. Let stand one minute, skim and pour into glasses. Certo, the concentrated jelly-making principle of fruit, contains no gelatin or preservative and is obtainable at all grocers and druggists. If your grocer or druggist is out of stock, he can get it quickly for you from his jobber.

The above recipe and 100 others for making delicious jellies and jams in the "Certo Process" is found in the Certo Book of Recipes, a copy of which comes with every bottle of Certo. Extra copies will be sent free on write to the Pectin Sales Company, Inc. 106 East Avenue, Rochester, N. Y.

Important: Use Certo this year in making all your jams and jellies. They will keep splendidly. Certo is a safe time, work and boiling. The Certo Process never fails and is economical because you make half as much more jam from the same amount of fruit.

If your grocer or druggist does not have Certo please telephone Miss Jones at 1875 to learn where you can obtain it.—Advertisement

BARGE CANAL BACKED BY MILLER

Governor Promotes Its Maintenance By State During Coming Season In Highest Degree of Efficiency.

In connection with Barge Canal Week, whose observance throughout New York state is general, Governor Miller's formal statement of the policy of New York state toward the State Barge Canal system should prove of interest to every citizen of the state and particularly of Kingston city and Ulster county, where barge canal operations has a direct bearing on some of our leading industries.

"The Legislature shall not sell, lease or otherwise dispose of the Erie Canal, the Oswego Canal, the Champlain Canal, the Cayuga and Seneca Canal or the Black River Canal, but they shall remain the property of the state and under its management forever."

Governor Miller's Statement.

The Governor's statement reads as follows:

"These words written into the basic law of the state almost as soon as the original channels were completed clearly indicate the attitude of the people of New York toward their commercial waterways. Our canal policy is a century old. Throughout all the changing administrations on the course of the state in the matter of its canals has been along broad and liberal lines. Improvements have been made from time to time and there is no instance on record where a referendum on the question of issuing canal bonds for improvement purposes has not been approved by the comfortable majorities."

New York's Attitude Unselfish.

"New York's attitude toward its inland channels has also been a most unselfish one. In the beginning, tolls were imposed on freight transported over its waters and a splendid revenue resulted. Later, the amount of such tolls was reduced by half, and still later every vestige of charge to commerce for using the waterways was removed and the entire system was thrown open to the use of the world without exacting payment of any kind. In such manner New York generously deprived itself of that steady stream of millions that theretofore had poured into the state treasury and which up to 1880 when the tolls were lifted outright amounted to about $135,000,000."

No Change of Faith.

"The beginning of the Twentieth Century showed no change of faith on the part of the people. On the contrary, since 1903, by the vote of the people which on the basis of the referendum held on that subject, the citizens stood on the proposition, bonds to the extent of over $154,000,000 have been issued for canal improvements not to speak of annual appropriations for maintenance and operation of upwards of $2,000,000. The present generation has gone even further than those of the last century. Having in mind the deficiencies of the former waterway and to the end that the demands of commerce might be more thoroughly met, public docks have been constructed, where barges could moor, machinery of the most modern type for the handling of freight has been installed, and warehouses in which the cargoes might be stored pending delivery built. There is hardly a city, village or town along the line of the canal which has not been provided with these facilities."

Brooklyn Grain Elevator.

A splendid grain elevator of the most modern type at Brooklyn is nearing completion and this may be considered only a beginning of the state's venture into this line. The barge canal system as it now exists represents an investment of upwards of $167,000,000, not to speak of the money expended on portions of the old canal which have been utilized or the legislative appropriations for 1922. No effort will be spared to place the undertaking on a paying basis. If any defect in the plan exists, it will be remedied. Any additional mechanical device necessary to insure its efficient working will be supplied."

State's Credit at Stake.

"In a sense, the credit of New York is at stake. In a broad and ambitious spirit which has commanded admiration from every state in the nation and with supreme courage in its own convictions, the state of New York has designed and constructed a splendid avenue for commerce, not only from the Great Lakes to the sea but from the northern territory as well. It will not be satisfied until that waterway is utilized to the full."

"The problems of canal maintenance of today are of the same character as those of fifty years ago. The only difference lies in degree. Back in the '70's we find the government of the state assuming the management of the administration of an 'honored seven foot channel' will be provided. In 1922 the chief executive has declared that the barge canal shall be kept at the statutory depth of twelve feet."

State Will Carry Out Its Pledge.

"A difference of six inches in the draft of a loaded boat will spell profit or loss to the carrier, and the maintenance of a channel of the full size is deemed by the canal officials of the present day as their first and most important task. The state has pledged such depth of channel and it will be provided."

"With a smooth working of the locks assured, next in order of importance comes the matter of freight handling facilities. All types of mechanical devices have been studied with relation to the traffic to be served. The canal users of 1921 found that their needs were promptly supplied upon their being made known to the operating officials. It is only in the matter of railroad connections at terminals that the progress made is unsatisfactory. It is confidently expected that the pending litigation with the railroad companies will be concluded to the advantage of the state's position and that the supplying of this defect at those places where interchange with rail is not how possible will not long be deferred.

"In short, the state of New York stands back of its canal system. It pledges itself to maintain it in perfect operating condition, supplying any and all facilities that may be found necessary to render it a practical and efficient commercial highway."

WATER BOARD BORROW $20,000

Need Funds To Extend 30 Inch Main and Build a Wash Water Tank At Filter House—Will Increase Pressure—Other Matters At Council Session.

At the regular monthly meeting of the common council Tuesday evening a communication was received from the water board asking the aldermen to approve and consent to the water board borrowing $20,000 to make improvements to the water system. The money would be paid back from the earnings of the board. The aldermen unanimously gave the consent asked for.

The water board called attention to the need of more pressure on the high points and that the plan adopted was of a new 20 inch water main. This main was started several years ago, and was partly laid to the Esopus creek crossing. Lack of funds and the high cost of material had delayed the work.

At this time the water board was anxious to continue the work of laying the main, and also to build a wash water tank at the filter house. This tank would be used in case of necessity. Superintendent Harrison of the water department was present at the session, and explained briefly what the board contemplated, and that the main purpose was to give better service and more pressure on the high points of the city.

Switches and Oratory.

The fact that the Kingston Lumber Company on Fair street extension is desirous of having a railroad switch or spur run across the end of the Fair street extension from the O & W tracks to the U & D tracks to facilitate the movement of lumber cars, resulted in considerable oratory at the time Alderman Martin offered a resolution that permission be granted.

Alderman Macholdt said that Alderman Martin was "out of order" and that the council could not vote on the question because it had not been referred to the proper committee—the railroad committee, and he asked that it be referred to that committee.

Alderman Cashman amended the Martin resolution by referring it to the railroad committee, and Alderman Macholdt then moved that the committee report back at the special meeting to be held by the council on May 9.

Alderman Beichert Macholdt and Cashman led the attack on the Martin resolution to grant the lumber company permission to go ahead. They said that there was no need of having committees if nothing was referred to them.

Alderman Beichert said that the old common council had gone ahead in a similar way and granted permission to the West Shore railroad to build a spur across Foxhall avenue, and as a result Mr. Phelan had "stuck a coal yard in front of my house."

To Operate Kiels Bus Line.

Fred H. Huber and Edward G. Klemm asked the council to transfer to them the consent to operate a bus line granted to Peter Kiels. Mr. Kiels had died last year and they had bought the business and wished to continue it. Alderman Behrens' resolution that consent be given was carried.

The Majors' Conference.

An invitation was received to attend to state mayor's conference to be held in Poughkeepsie on June 6 and 7, and the usual resolution was adopted authorizing Mayor Crane to attend and take with him as many city officials as he deemed necessary.

Question McBride Drug Bill.

It was when the auditing committee was making its report that the aldermen came vigorously to life and raised objections to several bills audited.

Alderman Behrens fired the first gun by asking to have a bill of William McBride, the Wall street druggist, read again, and asked if Mr. McBride was not a member of the firm of McBride Drug Stores, Inc. of which Charles L. McBride, a member of the board of health, was also a member.

"Are there no other drug stores in town?" asked Alderman Behrens, pleasantly.

City Clerk Doremus, at the request of the objecting aldermen, again read the bill which was a board of health bill for $38.77 for drugs, and had been approved by Charles L. McBride and Dr. E. E. Norwood.

"That's good," said Alderman Macholdt "did you notice it? The bill is marked O. K. by a member of the firm. Can you beat it?"

"I move that the McBride bill be laid over for a month," said Alderman Behrens, and the motion was unanimously adopted.

Other Bills Questioned.

Alderman Van Wageningen questioned a tax bill from the board of health incurred by conveying an insane patient to the Middletown state hospital.

FOREST FIRES.

If the same rational conduct which is observed in the home should be followed in the woods, forest fires would occur with less frequency than at present. Ulster county has been visited by several forest fires this season and probably will have more. Investigation in many cases in the past has disclosed that carelessness was the cause of the fires. In some cases they were unavoidable, in some cases incendiary and in numerous cases their cause yet remains a mystery. Probably many of the fires whose origin is unknown have been due to carelessness.

A forest fire caused through carelessness or intent is a greater crime against the public than incendiary in a house or barn. In the latter case the incendiary generally is prompted by avarice and it is the insurance company alone which suffers. But when a forest fire is started there is a total loss which affects not only the present generation but also members of future generations. The forest is not insured. The character of the soil may be such that when the covering nature has provided is removed through fire it will never again become capable of producing forest or agricultural growth of any description. The land which has a value when covered by forest growth, however slight, becomes absolutely useless and of no value when denuded by flames. The possibility of useful production for any purpose is lessened to that extent.

Public crimes of this kind should be forested out and punished. Where evidence of this kind of incendiary has been discovered in Ulster county within the past few years there have been prosecutions with the result that forest incendiary has ceased. But the forest incendiary caused by carelessness is just as important to discover and punish if possible.

DOYLE AND SWENDBERG.

After coming across a book entitled "Heaven and Its Wonders and Hell," by Emanuel Swedenborg, published in 1758, and after learning from the Encyclopedia Britannica that Swedenborg, a Swedish scientist "150 years ahead of his time," later claimed inspiration from heaven and wrote many books on religion and the conditions of the future life, a correspondent of the New York Times says: "While I have read the book mentioned only enough to find out how much more information it gives than is given by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, it seems to me that those who are thinking of experimenting with mediums will save themselves time, money and mental strain by first glancing over this book. The author went direct to 'headquarters' for his information and reported it fully. Whether right or wrong, it is the same information that is being brought out a little at a time through darkness, mediums, etc., 164 years later. The main difference is that where Swedenborg reported all sorts of details and spoke with the positiveness of one thoroughly familiar with his subject, present-day investigators seem hazy and unconvinced."

William Dean Howells expressed himself in a similar manner, in an article in Harper's Magazine, when Sir Oliver Lodge was doing in this country what Sir Arthur Conan Doyle is doing now, pointing out how vast and complete was Swedenborg's published information, whether authoritative, or not, compared with the fragmentary after-death "news" presented by modern medium-employing investigators. Men of wide reading have long known that Swedenborg's works, though often misunderstood and misapplied, have served as an unacknowledged mine of information to all dabblers in the occult during a century and more.

The New York agricultural department has discovered a method of eradicating dandelions from the lawn, which is both cheap and effective but the news will not appeal to many people who are trying to cultivate the pest because they believe in its medicinal and other virtues—mostly the other ones. Up to this time the compulsory eradication of dandelions is not required by law, but it would be if the legislature were to remain in session long enough each year or would sidetrack other matters for those affecting Prohibition. A Prohibitionist who should seek compulsory extermination of the noxious weed on the ground that it was a Yellow Peril probably would find enough simple minded followers to receive proper consideration from legislative bodies.

NEED NEW BRIDGE OVER THE ESOPUS

Public Works Board Decides Old Structure Should be Replaced With New Bridge—Town of Ulster to Act Upon Question at Special Election—New Bridge Would Cost Approximately $15,000.

At a special meeting held Tuesday afternoon the board of public works decided that the present bridge across the Esopus creek at the end of Washington avenue should be replaced with a new structure and the secretary of the board, Simon Winchell, was instructed to so notify the town board of Ulster.

The meeting Tuesday was a joint meeting of the two boards. W. E. Joyce, the engineer who made an inspection of the bridge, had submitted a report in which he stated that the present bridge was unsafe and should be replaced.

In case the old bridge was repaired it would cost approximately $1,500 and such repairs would add but four years to the life of the bridge. A new bridge would cost between $10,000 and $15,000, depending on whether or not the present bridge piers could be used.

The members of the town board, after hearing the report, retired for a few minutes to discuss the question and later reported that it would ask that the board of public works communicate in writing what action the city board decided on. If the public works board favored a new bridge the town board would immediately take the necessary steps to ascertain what the taxpayers of the town of Ulster desired. This means that a special election will be held in the town of Ulster at which time the taxpayers will vote in favor of erecting a new bridge or repairing the present structure.

The cost of repairing or erecting a bridge is met by the town and city, each paying one-half. In the meantime the bridge will be posted with warning signs to the effect that the bridge is unsafe for a load exceeding eight tons and that the speed limit over the bridge has been fixed at eight miles an hour. The meeting then adjourned.

 2. Why don't cattle eat mullein?
 3. If birds go south in winter to get food, why don't they stay there? Why should they return north in spring?

Answers in Tomorrow's Nature Notes.

Answers To Previous Questions?
 1. What creature makes the piping note heard from pools, old ponds, and wagon ruts after the winter's snow has disappeared? I have heard some persons claim it was a toad, others a frog.

This is Hyla pickeringii, the "spring peeper," a tiny frog less than an inch long. It is hard to discover, hiding so easily against its background, and as it stops piping the throat-sac expands in a relatively large bubble when the piping is made. The sound usually heard is a chorus of many voices, audible quarter of a mile away. An interesting description of this frog's ways is in Dickerson's The Frog Book page 139, etc.

2. How can whales keep their warmth when they live in cold water like fishes?

They are well supplied with a layer of blubber beneath the skin and above the muscle. This serves to keep them warm by wearing a coat inside, so to speak.

3. How is it possible to hear the bluebird's note in spring before the bird is seen?

It comes north very early, and in migrating flies very high, a fact noted by an old ornithologist as Alexander Wilson. Hint says they give their call while in migrating flight, and this might account for hearing the sound when the bird is too high up to be visible.

GOVERNMENT NEEDS EXPERIENCED NURSES

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, D. C., May 3.—The United States Civil Service Commission states that there is need for nurses in the hospitals of the United States Veterans' Bureau and the Public Health Service and at Indian schools and agencies. Applications will be received for these positions until further notice.

Applicants are not given a written examination, but are rated upon the subjects of physical ability, weighted at 10 per cent, and training and experience, weighted at 90 per cent. Applicants must have graduated from a recognized school for trained nurses requiring a residence of at least two years in a hospital giving thorough practical and theoretical training.

Full information concerning entrance requirements, salaries, etc., and application blanks, may be obtained by communicating with the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., or the secretary of the civil service board at the post office or customhouse in any city.

FRED EWEL INJURED BY FALL FROM LADDER

Fred Ewel, employed by Elmer Swart on a residence which is being erected on Elmendorf street by Mr. Swart, fell Tuesday afternoon from the top of a ladder while at work on the attic and fell to the cellar of the house. He was conveyed to his home on Broadway and Dr. A. S. Vrooman summoned. No bones were broken but Mr. Ewel suffered from contusions and abrasions and also a strained back. The injuries are not considered of a serious nature.

BIG ATTENDANCEAt Court House Hearing Thursday
To Voice Opposition to Retention
Of Grade Crossings Near Summitville.

An Ellenville committee which signs itself the committee on railroad grade crossings has issued the following call for a big attendance at the hearing to be held at the court house on Thursday before the Public Service Commission:

The undersigned committee desire to call your attention to a hearing scheduled to be held at the court house in the city of Kingston, 10 a. m. May 4th, for the further consideration of the elimination of two railroad highway grade crossings, between Phillipsport and Summitville.

The elimination of these particular grade crossings is not essentially an affair of the town of Menakating, Sullivan county, wherein they are located, as the cost of the construction of the new road is shared equally by the state and federal government.

The committee feels that no more worthy subject could be brought to your attention in the interests and welfare of the community, and therefore asks for your cooperation, and trusts that you will take immediate action, so that you may be personally present or represented at the hearing and voice your opposition against the retention of these grade crossings upon our new state-federal highway.

The smoker and entertainment held at the Elks Club, Fair street, Tuesday evening, for the benefit of the drive for the Salvation Army fund, under the direction of the Elks was largely attended. There was an interesting program consisting of songs, vaudeville acts and a number of boxing bouts. Eddie Scherer was the announcer. Vince Coffey and William Roddell closed the entertainment with a lively three-round bout. The receipts will add a goodly sum to the Salvation Army fund.

AT THE THEATERS.

Star Vaudeville Shows for Last Times Tonight.

Lionel Barrymore in "Boomerang Bill" is the photoplay at Kenney's tonight, also Clyde Cook in "The Turnabout," an exciting thrilling comedy. Three days, starting tomorrow, Cecil B. DeMille's sumptuous production "Fool's Paradise."

Tonight at the Opera House the present all star Keith vaudeville offering will close. The photoplay is Irving Bacheller's greatest play, "The Light in the Clearing." An all new show will open Thursday with five different acts and the photoplay "Lady Fingers," starring popular Bert Lytell.

Betty Compson in "The Little Minister," is programmed at the Auditorium tonight, also a Sunshine comedy and Eddie Polo in "The Secret Party." Thursday, the evening chapter play, "White Eagle." The play selected for the last offering of the Matinee Stock Company's engagement at the Orpheum Theater, which will be Thursday, Friday and Saturday, will be the four act comedy drama entitled "Molly Bawn." There will be an entire change in the picture program. Today's play, "Wife in Name Only." Tomorrow's feature, "The Power Within."

Country's National Parks.

There are nineteen national parks, with a total area of 19,850 square miles, under the supervision of the secretary of the interior and seven national military and other parks under the supervision of the secretary of war, and a number of other national monuments, such as the petrified forests of Arizona, etc., under the jurisdiction of the secretaries of the interior, agriculture and war. For many years the Hot Springs reservation of Arkansas was the only national park. In 1892 an area of 12 square miles on which are 46 hot springs possessing curative properties was set aside as a national park. It was not until forty years later that another national park was created, the Yellowstone, in Wyoming. The other 17 have been created within forty-two years, and seven of these within the last decade, the interest in conservation probably accounting for the larger number. The only one in New England is Lafayette park in Maine, on Mount Desert.

Process of Absorption.

Miss Christina Merriman, head of the disarmament division of the League of Women Voters, said at a dinner party in Washington:

"Disarmament, when it comes, will do away with the absorption of one country by another."

"These absorbing, or bow constrictor, countries remind me of the elderly man in the smoker who bent over an old gentleman seated in front of him and said:

"Beg pardon, but do you mind lending me your spectacles a moment?"

"Not at all," said the kindly old gentleman, "not at all."

"The elderly chap fixed the spectacles firmly on his nose."

"Thank you," he said, "and now, sir, since you can no longer read your newspaper, will you kindly pass it over to me?"—Washington Star.

Too Much Latitude.

"Here's a funny item," said Mrs. Johnson, in the midst of her reading. "A professor says folks art to spend at least an hour at the dinner table."

"An hour?" exclaimed Gap Johnson, of Monopuss Ridge, Ark. "Great guns of iron! What in torment would our 14 children be eating after the first 20 minutes, unless they sit up the table and then began on each other?"—Kansas City Star.

Soldiers of the Irish Free State Government, with the aid of armored cars, have been called upon to quell continued riots of the "country of turmoil." Recent dispatches indicate that many Irish Republican Army officers are deserting the forces of Eamon de Valera and urging unification under the treaty which established the Irish Free State, with Arthur Griffiths and Michael Collins as leaders.

HUMOROUS IN HIS PROTEST

Max Beerbohm Wanted No Book Written About Him, and Said So in Amusing Manner.

"You might have waited for my demise, instead of merely hectoring it," remarked his subject—or victim, as you please—to Bohm Lynch, when the latter communicated the news that he was about to write "Max Beerbohm in Perspective."

But adherents of Beerbohm will agree that the Beerbohmian protests against his publication in themselves justify the volume, according to the Living Age. Here they are:

"I remember several books about men who, not yet dead, had blantly added and abetted the author; and I remember what awful asses those men seemed to me thereby to have made of themselves. Two of them were rather great men. They could afford to make awful asses of themselves. I, who am 100 miles away from being great, cannot afford such luxuries."

"My gifts are small. I've used them very well and discreetly, never straining them; and the result is that I've made a charming little reputation. But that reputation is a frail plant. Don't overwater it! I, Gardner Lynch! Don't drench and deluge it! The contents of a quite small watering can will be quite enough."

"Gardner Lynch," however, was not to be deterred, and his readers may rejoice therefore. He produced an amusing study of an amusing writer, not a flippant study, but not a painfully serious one, either.

Codfish as Old as History.

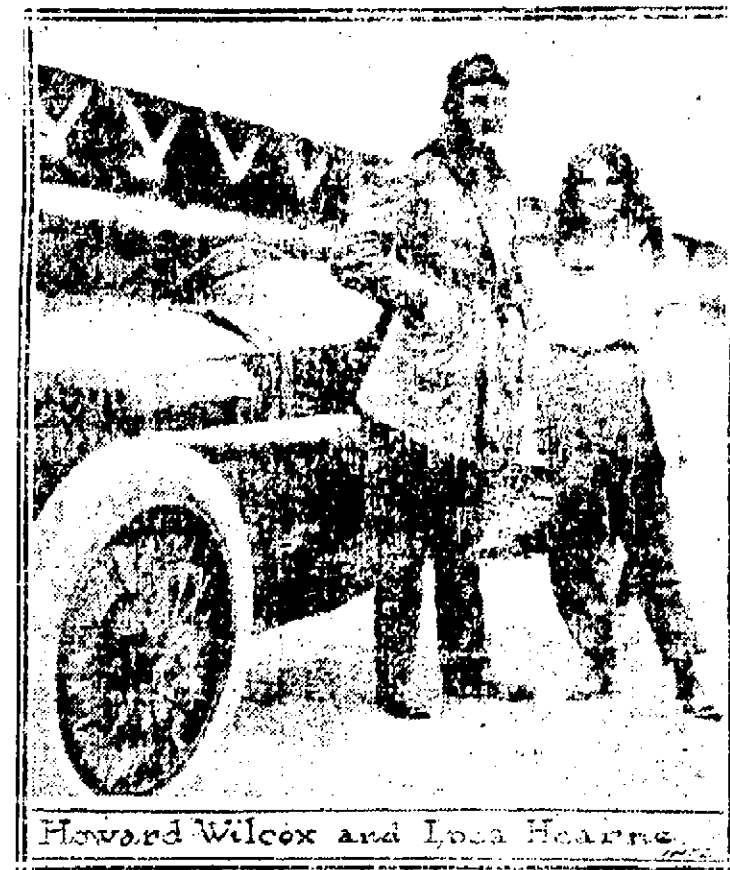

Codfish is said to be the world's most important—which means the most common—fish. Few fish are more prolific. It has been asserted that one weighing 75 pounds will contain over 900,000 eggs. The cod is practically omnivorous, feeding means to supply great schools wherever food of any sort is found. It is found in many parts of the world other than the North American "banks," and it is said that it has been fished for by fishermen of northern Europe since the beginning of recorded history and, of course, for uncountable centuries before man began to make written records.

Fur Seals in the Pacific.

The fur seals which make their home on the Pribilof Islands, a barren group in the Bering sea, disappear from the islands at the beginning of the winter, and throughout that season are scattered about the waters of the North Pacific. Some of them never leave the ice seas about Alaska, but others venture as far south as the coast of California. But wherever they may be, when spring comes instinct leads them back to the desolate little islands.

Missed Something.

Little Ray was being shown a bust of his distinguished grandfather who had died before Ray was born. The youngster gazed at the bust awhile in perplexed silence; then he inquired innocently, "Is that all there was of him?"—Boston Transcript.

Howard Wilcox and Luca Hearne

Pretty, brown-eyed Luca Hearne, of film fame, had better look to her laurels. The original "speed girl" gave forward at Indianapolis and challenges her to "step along" in her "poky" old car. At Indianapolis on May 24 the speediest racing drivers on earth will compete in the annual "speedstakes" race. Having the drivers of the bowl will be Luca Hearne, who thus will earn the distinction of being the only girl ever to drive a car in the championship "speedstakes." Howard Wilcox, noted racer, is training her.

Ganna Walska and her husband, Alexander Smith-Cochran, "richest American bachelor," have agreed up on a divorce. Details of property rights have been settled by their attorneys. Divorce proceedings will be instituted in Paris, where both maintain legal residences. Dudley Field Malone, attorney for Mrs. Walska, and Mr. Untermyer, attorney for Cochran, have sailed for France to conclude the case.

William E. Ferguson

Deaconess Peggy Finkles Jones, former "Follies" beauty, reputed to give up seeing other men, William E. Ferguson, Chicago millionaire, committed suicide in Paris. Peggy loved him, she said, but could not marry him, because he already had a wife.

WHEN YOU BUY OIL the chief question is: Are you getting a specialized lubricating oil—or oil which is merely an incidental by-product of some gasoline refinery?

Price per gallon, or "looks," or "feel," or chemical tests cannot answer that question. Then how can you be sure?

Ask for a 5-gallon can of Gargoyle Mobiloil—the grade recommended for your car.

Gargoyle Mobiloil is a specialized lubricating oil, carefully refined from crude oil specially chosen for its lubricating value.

Sheer superiority of results accounts for the fact that throughout the country there are more specific requests for Gargoyle Mobiloil than for any 3 other oils combined.

PHOEBE BIRDS

Phoebe birds are to be found in every household. They are not only useful but also very charming. They are known for their habit of building their nests under the eaves of houses. They are also known for their habit of carrying bits of mud in their bills to build their nests. They are very common birds and are found in every household.

GAS BUGGIES—The fable of the busy business man

THEM DAYS IS GONE FOREVER

Hurl This One at Hubby.

The KITCHEN CABINET

A soothing stream of sweet content runs through my plains of thought all day. Carressing, blessing as it went, The banks of deeds upon its way. I sought at night to trace its source, Following back its beck and nod, Diverging, skirting all its course, To find at last, it came from God. —Harriet H. D'Auteuromont.

WHAT TO EAT

A particularly good sandwich for the children's luncheon is prepared as follows: Spread brown or whole wheat bread with butter, then sprinkle lightly with minced water cross. One may spread the bread with cream cheese after spreading with butter, then add the cross. This will make a more nourishing sandwich.

Roasted Turnips.—Small peeled turnips parboiled until half cooked are drained and then placed in the roasting pan with the rosin of mutton. Baste with the rosin and serve around the roast on the platter.

Mutton stewed with turnips is a good dish. Heat one and one-half tablespoons of butter and when bubbling hot add eight diced turnips, season with salt and cayenne and let cook a few minutes, then add one and a quarter cupfuls of weak stock and boil gently until the turnips are tender, then the mutton and turnips are put together when the meat is nearly cooked. Add a tablespoonful of flour browned in a little butter, boiling five minutes.

Cracked Wheat Bread.—Boil one cupful of cracked wheat in three cupfuls of boiling water for one hour, then add when cool one-half cupful of molasses, two teaspoonfuls of salt, a yeast cake dissolved in one-half cupful of tepid water, two tablespoonfuls of butter and sufficient flour to make a dough to knead. Knead until well mixed, divide into two loaves and place in buttered pans. Let rise again and bake for forty to fifty minutes in a moderate oven. Another good bread is made by mixing a cupful of cooked cracked wheat with a cupful of cornmeal, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, a teaspoonful of salt, a tablespoonful of butter, two beaten yolks and one and one-half cupfuls of milk. Fold in the beaten whites and bake in a baking dish. Serve from the dish.

VERDICT OF $225 AGAINST B. W. S. COP

Automobile Negligence Action Now On Trial Before Judge Nichols in the Supreme Court.

A verdict for $225 for plaintiff was returned yesterday afternoon by the jury in the case of Ward Platt against Anthony L. Nichols, an action brought for assault. Plaintiff claimed that defendant, a member of the New York board of water supply police, assaulted him at or near Allaben on the night of April 30, 1921, and that as a result of such assault plaintiff suffered a broken jaw.

The defense was a denial and a claim that Platt was the night in question was intoxicated and creating a disturbance near the police barracks at Allaben and that the police officer went out and threatened to arrest plaintiff but did not assault him. William D. Brinner appeared for plaintiff and John O'Brien of New York for defendant.

Tuesday afternoon a jury was taken in the action brought by Ada R. Roberts, wife of N. B. Roberts, against Charles Kid, a negligence action brought to recover for personal injuries received by plaintiff in a collision between plaintiff's Overland sedan and a motor bus of defendant on May 11, 1921. The motor bus was in charge of Martin Jordan. The collision took place at the junction of Broadway and Abel street. Mrs. Roberts, who resides on St. James street, this city, was proceeding out of Abel street into Broadway on the right hand side of the street. The bus was proceeding up Broadway and was making the turn into Abel street when the collision took place. Defendant claims that the bus was proceeding at a slow rate of speed and was to the left of the road in making the turn by reason of a car which was parked on the right hand side of Abel street at or near the corner.

Plaintiff claims the injuries sustained are permanent and seeks to recover. Mrs. Roberts was sworn Tuesday afternoon and testified as to the good condition of the car and as to Mrs. Roberts' ability to operate it. She usually took him to and from his place of employment with the car.

Dr. Mark O'Meara, who attended her at the Benedictine Hospital and reduced the fracture, was called and testified to the nature of her injuries. The only injury he knew of was to her knee. Dr. Billings, the family physician, also testified to the injuries and said that he had later treated her for injuries to her spine but was not sure such injury was the result of the accident. Dr. Van Wageningen, who took an x-ray photograph of the injury, also testified, and Dr. Van Hoevenberg was also called by plaintiff. H. H. Flemming, with Corporation Counsel Gill appear for plaintiff, and Philip A. Rorty, with Newton H. Fessenden appear for defendant.

WOMEN MAKE FINE AVIATORS

According to Writer in the London Mail, They Are Fully the Equal of the Men.

It seems to be quite clear that women do not intend to be content for one moment with remaining on the earth during the dawn of the great new era of the air.

More and more women passengers are being booked by the continental "airways." Quite often they outnumber the men. Nor are they going to be content to play a merely passive part and simply sit in a machine that some one else is piloting. They are going to handle for themselves some of the most swift "air cars" that are now forthcoming.

Only the other day, when a widely known air pilot decided that the time might be ripe to start a school for skilled flyers of public hire "taxi-planes," he found that half a dozen of those interested in his scheme were young, vigorous and ambitious women who were keen to enter this new profession of the air.

That a well-qualified woman, mentally and physically lacks anything that would enable her to be a good airplane pilot was proved not to be the case even in days far distant before the war, when the handling of a flying machine was infinitely more arduous and risky than it is now.

As a matter of fact, with the modern machine growing more and more stable, and its handling becoming so much a question of delicacy of touch, a woman is particularly well suited to fly a properly equipped touring airplane. That a woman's nerve might fail her in some emergency has often been an argument advanced, but it was disproved very neatly only the other day. A young woman was making her first flights alone in the airplane when the motor stopped suddenly.

She was not over the airframe at the time and the moment would have been an awkward one for even a skilled pilot. This woman, however, did precisely the right thing, and got back onto the flying ground in a clever glide, which won her the unmitigated admiration of her instructor. London Mail.

ROTARY PLANS FOR COMING YEAR

April Attendance Best Ever and Good Many Made on May—To Visit Yama Farm—Standing Committee Announced.

Kingston Rotarians held a 32, possibly 34, per cent meeting today and were officially informed that their April attendance had averaged 94 per cent, the highest in the history of the club. There was no set program, the time being taken up in announcing the new standing committees, formulating plans for the year and brief impromptu addresses.

M. R. Contant gave a thrilling account of the Oneonta expedition and S. M. Watts told how he led the procession to Newburgh a week ago. There was a unanimous vote for a visit to Yama Farm Inn at an early date.

Standing committees were announced as follows: Entertainment—William C. Huse, John H. Gregory, Thomas H. Fleming, David Burgevin, J. Edward Derrenbacher.

Education—Samuel M. Watts, The Rev. Dr. Frank H. Soley, Arthur C. Connelly, Charles W. Lewis, Harry Smith.

Boys Work—Ernest M. Hicks, Alfred W. Buley, Ernest R. Acker, William S. MacDonough, Frank W. Thompson.

Fellowship—Addison D. Pardee, William S. Ething, Alfred L. Harder, Charles H. Lovin, James P. Byrne.

Relations With International Rotary—Harry P. Dodge, Samuel D. Seander, Arthur H. Wicks, W. David Hawk, Henry J. Wieber.

Public Affairs—Vincent A. Gorman, Schuyler C. Schultz, Frank P. Messinger, Melvin R. Contant, Charles B. Everett.

Crippled Children—George F. Chandler, Mark O'Meara, Frank A. Johnston, George S. Warren, William O'Reilly.

Business Methods—Robert R. Rodie, Robin Stille, William Dugan, Louis S. Coe, Arthur G. Carr.

Low Prices for Trash. That there could be a direct connection between the drop in the price of the mark and the drop in the janitor's interest in the trash which spring cleaning clears out of the average apartment would seem to be a far-fetched assertion. But this is the case, declares the New York Sun. Three years ago the prices brought by all classes of discarded materials were so high that the sale value was an item of importance to many janitors. Now they are mainly so much trash—worth nothing and less than nothing, since it costs the city millions to get rid of the rubbish.

Though other factors enter into the situation the unprecedentedly high price of the dollar in exchange is one reason that there is no market for materials that were formerly salvaged and sold in Europe, particularly to Germany.

Oil, glycerol and fertilizer were salvage products of the garbage reduction plant. All rubbish was sorted into classes. Rags, bottles, felt hats, rubber, hair and metals of all sorts were the chief classes, and brought good prices. Now the whole problem is to get rid of them.

Architect of His Own Fortune. The proverb, "Every man is the architect of his own fortune," is found in most modern languages. According to Sallust, Roman historian, the phrase originated with Appian Claudius Cæcilius, who held the office of censor in 312 B. C. A century later Plautus, a Roman dramatist, asserted that "the wise man is the maker of his own fortune, and, unless he is a bungling workman, little can befall him which he would wish to change." Another form is, "His own character is the architect of everyone's fortune."

FIRE DAMAGES U. S. TREASURY

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, May 3.—After a hard all-night battle, the second fire which has menaced the United States treasury in two months, was put entirely under control about dawn this morning.

Marines and soldiers who were hastily routed out of bed to guard the treasury in the hush building, were sent back to their camps while treasury officials inaugurated an investigation to determine the cause of the blaze.

Treasury officials estimated the damage caused by the fire at from $50,000 to $75,000. It was confined entirely to the roof, upon which workmen have been engaged for months in building a new superstructure. The fire originated on the roof and ate down through to the fourth floor, where some chemicals were stored, causing a small explosion. The explosion caused great excitement and led firemen to fear at first that the flames would get beyond their control.

The first alarm was turned in shortly before 2 a. m. Spreading rapidly through the frame superstructure, the flames shot high into the air, lighting up the White House, across the street, the Washington Hotel and other buildings.

The president and Mrs. Harding were awakened by the light in their sleeping rooms and watched the firemen bring the flames under control. Guests of the hotel also were interested spectators, crowding the windows in their night clothing.

After the explosion occurred, a hurry call was sent to a nearby barracks for soldier guards. The firemen at that time being uncertain as to the extent or cause of the blaze. The soldiers arrived on the double quick and a cordon was thrown about the block.

The fire was the second that has menaced the treasury lately. Two months ago, a pot of boiling pitch used in roof construction, was upset, causing a fire which created great excitement and caused small damage.

Franklin's Glass Harmonica. One of the most curious musical instruments ever made was the glass harmonica that Benjamin Franklin invented. It was composed of glass disks of different sizes set on a spindle and made by a treadle to revolve in a trough of water. The player touched the wet edges of the disks as they revolved and thereby produced musical notes of unusual sweetness. The instrument was in great vogue for many years, but the music was said to have an injurious effect on the listener's nerves, and the friction of the glass disks made the player's fingers sore.—Youth's Companion.

Wonderful Watch. The watch of Rampr has sent to London a watch for repair which, no doubt, is a unique specimen of its kind. The case is carved from a topos, the crystal is a section of a diamond which is covered over with a section of an emerald. Small as the watch is it indicates seconds, minutes, hours, days, weeks and months. It is valued at $30,000.

Few Catholics in Iceland Now. There were formerly in Iceland no fewer than 220 Catholic churches, many of them built of stone; but they were either destroyed or taken over by the Lutherans at the Reformation; and now there is only one small, dilapidated Catholic church in the whole country.

Happiness in Usefulness. "Dar is de same difference between plain an' fancy folks," said Uncle Eben, "dat dar is between chickens an' canaries. De old hen scratchin' aroun on her own account in de yard is happier an' mo' useful dan de bird in de gilded cage."

LIBERTY FAVORED BY WADSWORTH

Senator Willing to Go to Limit in Caring for Disabled Soldiers at Liberty and in Adirondacks.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Saranac Lake, N. Y., May 3.—United States Senator James W. Wadsworth today went on record in sympathy with establishment by the government of extensive facilities for treatment and care of tubercular ex-service men in the Adirondacks and near Liberty, Sullivan county.

In a letter to Frederick R. Toombs, former state assemblyman, and commander of the Jackson A. Madison Post of the American Legion, he opposed the reported movement to evacuate the camps around Saranac Lake and send the men to other parts of the country.

"We keep urging the authorities to hurry and will keep urging so long as there is room for improvement," the senator wrote. "I am willing to go the limit in this matter of taking care of disabled men."

His System. It is related that some years ago a man, who was a stranger to the usual throng, stepped up to the mahogany ordered a New Orleans fizz, and, reaching in his pocket, pulled forth a live toad and placed it on the bar.

"For the love of Mike!" yelled the man next to him. "Why the toad?" "That toad plays a star part in a system that I have used for many years with great success," replied the man.

"Spring it," shouted the mob. "Well, you see, I take my little friend toad and place him on the mahogany in front of me and order my drink. I take my dink and then I order another, and sometimes another, and perhaps then another. I look at my toad, and if there is only one toad there I stay and enjoy a few more rounds. As soon as there are two toads there instead of one, I go home. I have never yet stayed until there were three. That's my system. Well, I don't mind if I do. A little more of the same, please."—Philadelphia Record.

Quiver of the Beau. He had just proposed. Secretly, she was very much elated and intended to say "Yes" eventually. But she thought she would have a little amusement by keeping him in suspense for a few minutes.

So she said, in a sad voice, "I'm afraid I can be nothing but a sister to you."

"Well, that's all right," he said gayly. "I thought that since I have been going with you for a year now, it was only fair that I would give you an opportunity to marry me, if you cared to. But since you don't, I might as well confess that I'd rather be a brother than a husband myself."

And Cupid closed off another account to profit and loss.—Gargoyle.

Suspicious Observer. "Men are now enthusiastic about electing women to office."

"I have observed the fact," replied Miss Cayenne. "Several husbands have been heard to say they would be delighted if their wives in addition to spending the summer at a hotel would spend the winter in the legislature."

Little Bo-Peep has lost her sheep. With tears she's nearly blinded: She mumbled a jacket in a flimsy packet. And the P. O.'s now trying to find it. (Moral: Prepare your package securely.)

STATE MAYORS' ANNUAL MEETING

Representative Program For Discussion At Thirtieth Annual Conference To Be Held At Poughkeepsie In June

Headed by Governor Nathan L. Ponder, Senator Frederick M. Davies, Senator Ward V. Tolbert, Mayor John F. Hylan and President Charles P. Gillen of the New Jersey State of Municipalities, the list of speakers and the subjects to be discussed at the thirtieth annual meeting of the New York State Conference of Mayors and other city officials will be announced by the conference officers and advisory committee at the annual meeting which will be held in Poughkeepsie on June 6, 7 and 8.

Arrangements have been completed for sectional meetings for nine groups of officials during the first four days of the conference. The two days of the conference, the New York State Fire Chiefs' Association will also meet with the conference for the first time this year. Sectional meetings will be held by the city clerks, health officers, fire officers, charity officials, fire insurance, city engineers, corporation counsel and city attorneys, and purchasing agents.

At the opening session President William J. Wallin of Yonkers will discuss the year's progress in municipal work in New York state, and Mayor William S. Hackett of Albany will give the results of the legislative work by the cities. Mayor Fred A. Robbins of Hornell will present a report on "Increasing Administrative Efficiency."

A plan to solve the municipal pension problem will be presented at the afternoon session by F. B. Holmes, Director of the New York State Retirement System. The municipal pension problem in New York state will be discussed by Dr. Matthias Nichols, deputy state commissioner of health. Mayor Thomas A. Wilson of Hamilton will present a plan for investigating a city's increase in taxation.

Following a dinner given by the citizens of Poughkeepsie to the visiting city officials on the evening of the first day the program of speakers will be as follows: Progress in the Municipal Home Rule Movement. Senator Ward V. Tolbert, Brooklyn; "Evaluating the Burden of Taxation," Senator Frederick M. Davies, Clinton; "The State and the Municipalities," Governor Nathan L. Ponder.

A symposium on municipal progress and problems will be held on the morning of the second day. Reports from each city will be presented. Mayor Edwin W. Fiske of Mount Vernon will explain the model charter which the legislature enacted for his city at its last session. The education and automobile traffic problem will also be discussed at the afternoon session.

At the session on the second evening, Mayor John F. Hylan of New York city will discuss the human side of government; Commissioner Charles P. Gillen of Newark, N. J., will describe the co-operative work of the New Jersey municipalities; and R. J. Simmons, secretary of the New York State Forestry Association, will suggest a solution of the problem of reforesting municipal parks and watersheds at the least expense.

At the last session on Thursday morning, June 8, speakers will give summaries of the discussions and business transacted at the sectional meetings on the previous two days. President William J. Wallin, when announcing the plans for the annual meeting, said that the conference has just completed one of the busiest and most successful years in its history. He also announced that preparations are being made to entertain between five and six hundred officials of the cities of the state at Poughkeepsie in June.

EDWARDS WITHDRAWN

At Trenton, N. J., May 3.—Declaring that Governor Edward I. Edwards' "antagonism to prohibition" made him the strongest candidate on the political horizon, Alexander Simpson, minority leader in the state senate, today announced his withdrawal as a candidate for nomination as United States senator. Governor Edwards will probably have no opponent for the Democratic nomination.

DIED.

LENN. At Port Ewen, N. Y., Tuesday, May 2, 1922, Emma J. Russell, widow of John T. Russell, at her 78th year.

Funeral at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Chas. Brock, at Port Ewen, Friday, at 2 o'clock. Interment in Port Ewen Cemetery.

Thomas J. Parker, May 3, 1917. In quiet remembrance of our dear father who departed this life May 3, 1917.

Five long years have passed, since we saw our dear father last. God called him home, it was his will. But in our hearts he lingers still. His memory is as dear today as in the hour he passed away. We often sit and think of him when we are all alone. His memory is the only friend that grief can call its own.

MOTHER, SON AND FAMILY.

Chicago, May 3.—The battle of supremacy in China between Chang Tso-Lin and Wu Pei-Fu, blazed again today with serious fighting reported at Nanchang, on the extreme southern end of the Yangtze, and one of Chang's strongest lieutenants, Generalissimo, was killed by the army of Wu Pei-Fu.

BEVERIDGE MAY WIN IN INDIANA

Tuesday's Primary Expected to Show Former Progressive Defeated Senator New For Republican Senatorial Nomination.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Indianapolis, Ind., May 3.—"Beveridge Indiana" was watered down between Democrats and Republicans today, and was more of a political contest than the Republican senatorial contest between Senator Harry S. New and ex-Senator Albert J. Beveridge, which was held on May 2nd.

The political contest was a close one, with Beveridge leading by a narrow margin. The contest was held at the Indiana state house and was attended by a large number of delegates from all over the state.

BANKERS KIDNAP THE

WATKINSON, GFT 988,000.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Lafayette, Colo., May 3.—A band of bandits swept down on Lafayette early this morning and after cutting all telephone and telegraph wires, kidnaped Night Marshal George

Stobbs, blew the vaults of the First National Bank and escaped with $30,000 in cash and Liberty bonds.

Jake Oiderson, manager of a local store, was shot and seriously wounded in a running gun battle with the bandits. The bank interior was wrecked by the bandits, who need ten charges of dynamite before the safe was blown.

The plan has the endorsement

of nearly all the members of President

Harding's official family and it is believed the president himself favors

the idea.

Bitter, scathing attacks on cabinet

members, both personal and official,

have increased to startling proportions within the last years. Hardly a day now passes but that some member of the Harding cabinet comes up for a lambasting at the hands of some senator or representative.

MAY GIVE CABINET
CHANCE TO TALK

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 3.—Nuttled by repeated attacks on cabinet officers made by members of congress from the floor of both houses, a definite movement was launched today by administration officials to give cabinet members privileges of the floor in congress to allow them to meet their critics face to face.

The plan has the endorsement

of nearly all the members of President

Harding's official family and it is believed the president himself favors

the idea.

Bitter, scathing attacks on cabinet

members, both personal and official,

have increased to startling proportions within the last years. Hardly

a day now passes but that some member of the Harding cabinet comes up for a lambasting at the hands of

some senator or representative.

PROHIBITIONISTS NOT IN PRISON, SAYS DR. CHASE

Who Advances Private Conclusions

from Prison Roll.

Editor of The Freeman:

I wish to thank you for an item which appeared recently in the editorial column of your paper. Let me quote, "Statistics announced by the president of the Prisoners' Relief

Society show that in a poll among the convicts in 322 penal institutions,

133,413 inmates voted in favor of the Eighteenth Amendment and 309 voted against it."

In other words, out of 147, only one was opposed to Prohibition.

Your conclusion, to my mind were very wide of the mark, assuming that those were "died-in-the-wool Prohibitionists." When you can find one man in a thousand in our penal institution who was a total abstainer, and voted the Prohibition ticket I will acknowledge that my ideas are not wholly correct.

I have come into contact with more men in Ulster county on this issue than any other man. Securing for a term of years the petition to vote on the excise question in the various towns, covering as many as nine towns in a single year.

Repeatedly I have found men who were far from being temperance men in practice who wanted to make the vote dry. A single case will illustrate. Approaching a number of men one day, I stated my business. A large hury man in the company asked, "Will my signing that petition help give me a chance to vote no license?"

I told him that was the very thing I was trying to accomplish. "Then," he added, loud enough for all to

COLONIALS SEEK A NEW PITCHER

Dick Williams Has Quit, and Al Lehr Has Been Released—Williams Informs Captain Schrick That Business Reasons Was Cause of His Stepping Out.

"Dick" Williams, star twirler of the Kingston Colonials and alderman from the Fourth ward, on Tuesday informed Judge Harry F. Schrick, captain of the Colonials, that he would be unable to complete the season with the local team. This morning Judge Schrick stated that Alderman Williams' reason for resigning from the team was due to business, but that later in the season if he saw his way clear to do so he would again don a Colonial uniform. It is understood that Williams, if he plays at all this season, will play independent ball.

Judge Schrick on Tuesday also released "Al" Lehr, a member of the pitching staff of the Colonials. The Colonials now have "Bud" Gullison and "Bill" McAuliffe, but need another pitcher to fill out the string, and are in the field for a good local twirler.

Street gossip is responsible for the rumor that Dewey Van Buren stands a chance of landing a pitching berth on the Colonials if he desires to play. Just who will land the berth, however, is not known.

Tagging All Bases.

News item: George McGrigge, well known and respected citizen of Washington, brutally assaulted by strong arm men in Philadelphia. Four home runs in four innings, three in a row in the fourth, an American League record. Walker, Perkins and "Bing" Miller, the guilty parties, Walker getting two, one in the first and another in the fourth. Who won? Don't make me laugh.

Howard Ehmke had one of his good days and the Detroit Tigers sent the Browns into a tie for first place by a 3 to 1 defeat.

The Giants made it four straight from the Braves and took a firmer hold on first place while the Braves took a firmer hold on last place. The Giants treated their old pal, Rube Marquard, very harshly. They sent him away from there in exactly one third of an inning. Ryan managed to keep the Braves' hits scattered.

It took Coveleskie to break the Indians' losing streak of five straight and three Chicago pitchers, Russell, Wilkinson and McWeeny, to help along the good work. The Pole was hit hard but nothing came of it.

Couch, holding Pittsburgh to five hits, made the Pirates lie down and be good while the Reds won by the top-heavy score of 9 to 2. Harper made two sensational catches in right field for the Reds.

The Yankees also halted a losing streak, and with Frank Baker getting five hits, won as they pleased from the Boston Red Sox. The Yanks, thereby move into a tie with the Browns for first place.

New World's Swimming Record.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Culver, Ind., May 3.—Paced by several cadet swimmers, Johnny Weismuller, the Chicago aquatic star, set a new world's record of 29-25 seconds for the 100 meter swim, in the 120-foot Culver Mill Academy pool here. The old record of 30-25, held by Duke Kahanamoku, has stood since 1920.

BOY SCOUTS

(Sponsored by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

SCOUT USES HIS FIRST AID

While engaged in playing football on the common near the Homewood Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, a small boy named Joseph Dunlap, was thrown forcibly against a broken bottle, the contact severing an artery in his ankle. Twelve-year-old Randolph L. Martin, a tenderfoot scout who aspires soon to be in second-class ranks, was happily on the spot. It was only a few days before that he had qualified in his first aid test, but he knew his job. Rapidly he made a tourniquet out of his suspender and applied it accurately, closing the artery which had been bleeding so profusely. The injured lad would soon have bled to death without instant treatment. A stretcher was improvised from some of the other boys' coats, under young Martin's direction, and the victim carried to the office of the nearest physician, Dr. C. J. Terty. On examining the treatment Doctor Terty was amazed to learn that a twelve-year-old boy could perform so grave a task so perfectly. He sat down at once and wrote a letter to scout headquarters detailing the incident and emphasizing his admiration for a movement which could give boys such training.

The action of Scout Martin is said to have given scouting a tremendous boost locally, particularly among the parents of boys. The hero of the incident is a member of Troop 68 of the Second Pittsburgh district in charge of Scoutmaster R. E. Baker, who takes special pride in his troop's first-aid proficiency.

TO "KEEP PHYSICALLY STRONG"

In the Undercliff sanatorium at Meriden, Conn., a group of boys, regularly organized as Troop 4, B. S. of A., are making a game try for health and the wearing of the old giant, T. B. The accompanying picture shows one of them at his exercises, with the thermometer at zero.

CONNECTICUT SCOUTS BUSY

Scouts of New Britain, Conn., have done noteworthy civic service during the past year aiding in various ways the American Red Cross, the American Legion, the local safety first committee, Parents and Teachers' association, public health service, G. A. R., chamber of commerce, municipal anti-ethnic, the hospital drive, Anti-Tuberculosis society, Rotary club, Near East Relief, Connecticut Sunday School convention, etc. A play was given to earn money to send to the Pueblo relief fund and twice the Court of Honor in Walnut Hill park has been cleaned up by scouts who replaced defaced name plates and removed dead wreaths and flowers. Life saving methods as taught in the scout summer camp enabled one scout to save the lives of two boys.

SCOUTS LAY TRAIL

One of the tasks being carried out by the scouts of Manhattan and vicinity is the laying of a trail which, when completed, will encircle the whole Katowahke lake district in the Palisades, which contains the great boy scout reservation. The whole distance of some fifty miles has been "pioneered" and temporary trail markers established. Six miles have been completed and equipped with permanent markers.

FORMER BOY SCOUT LOST

Frank Fletcher, a former boy scout, has not been heard from by his anxious parents since August, 1921, when he was at Camp Gretna, near Lebanon, Pa. The Salvation Army and the Boy Scouts of America are both endeavoring to find the boy, particularly as his mother is ill from worrying over his absence. He is sixteen years of age and is of Hungarian birth.

GOOD TURNS OF BOY SCOUTS

The mother of a scout fell ill. Her son immediately canceled every engagement and spent all his time outside of school and when he was not doing family errands, at the mother's side, reading aloud and generally helping her to pass a tedious period of illness as pleasantly as might be.

Another boy has been for years stopping on his way to school at the house of a poor woman to cut and carry fire wood.

Billiard Championship Ends Tonight

Sedalia, Mo., May 3.—Johnny Layton, world's three-cushion billiards champion, seemed in little danger today of losing his title in his match with Charles McCourt of Pittsburgh. Layton is leading by a score of 120 to 84. The final block of 60 points will be played tonight.
